

Ms. Andon is Koyukon Athabascan, originally from Tanana, Alaska. She is currently the Injury Prevention Program Coordinator for Environmental Health and Engineering at the Alaska Native Tribal Health Consortium, Anchorage, Alaska. Ms. Andon is Chair for the Indian Health Service Tribal Steering Committee on Injury Prevention and is also a graduate of the IHS Injury Prevention Epidemiology Fellowship. She previously served as the Deputy Director of Healthy Nations, a national Native American initiative funded by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation to reduce the harm associated with substance abuse among Native youth. Helen has also served as an adjunct instructor for the University of Alaska Anchorage on health and mental health issues among American Indians and Alaska Natives. Helen has worked with American Indian and Alaska Native public health issues for over 20 years. She also enjoys teaching the “History of Alaska Natives” and “Cross-cultural Communication. Helen has a Masters Degree in Education from Harvard University and a Bachelors in Social Work from the University of Alaska Anchorage.